

life's test
dedicated with love
to all those who feel the need to pass

who is behind the wheel?
the erratic driving is scaring her then she realised, it's her she's going nowhere
directionless
hopeless
just reacting randomly
because she hasn't passed
life's test
the theory is overwhelming she's tried to pass on
many times
she's so sad
she's a failure

she's told she's not serious by the professional
in the passenger seat
if she were
she'd have
passed
...first time...

so, is she meant to try harder?
so that she can prove she did want to pass all along?
they think she's failed intentionally
because she wasn't committed
...to suicide...

she wants her death to prove that every attempt was serious and she is not a failure she passed their test
she is a success

Jo Beth Gray

